One of our local citizens celebrated his 80th birthday last week—Mr. Charles Graham. A grand age to attain Mr. Graham. Congratulations.

Two of our younger set celebrated their 8th birthdays last week—Larry Poxon and Robin Hunt—two new ball players coming up, Stubby.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Harry Church of Hesketh on Wed. June 18 a son (Stillborn). Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. Roberts. Burial at Mountain View Gardens.

Mrs. Harry Hunt is still a patient in Drumheller hospital but is reported doing very well this time.

The Carbon Community had quite a shock on Thursday morning in the passing away suddenly of Lawrence (Joe) Trepanier. More details in the next paper.

Harold Sailer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Sailer of Kathryn was honored May 30 at Cap and Gown service at Northwestern College, Minneapolis, Minn. He was awarded the "Benjamin Ogden Chapman" Scholarship of $50. He is a sophomore majoring in Bible.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL

Well fans, our Carbon White Sox are really in a slump and the Swalwell Little Leaguers are really hot. They trounced Carbon to put them away up at the top of the league. Swalwell boys romped home 10 times to Carbon's three runs.

Carbon White Sox came out of their slump by drubbing Acme 8-3 and trouncing the Three Hills boys 9-2 giving the Carbon Club six wins to three losses. This puts our club in second spot in the league standings. To date Swalwell are riding on top with a 5-2 record.

Our feature game of the month was an exhibition game against Swalwell at Acme Sports which brought in new talent from both clubs. Flip Woods, a rookie pitcher started for Carbon and due to a little poor control was relieved by his brother Chewy who is rated as a catcher. Yogi Stubbart had a bad day at the stick and was benched and Slide Bramley took over at short. Snurd Mortimer bobbled a few easy ones and was replaced by Gibby Gibson. But all in all it was a see-saw game with Swalwell rookies getting the edge 8-7.

Fans we are having an All Star game in Carbon Sat. at 6:30 p.m. sharp. The best that Little League can offer will be on hand. This game is played between the National and American Leagues. Teams represented in the National are Huxley, Wimborne, Trochu and Ghost Pine. In the American are Acme, Carbon, Swalwell and Three Hills. Out of these players an all-star club will be picked to go to the Calgary tournament. If you want to see some good ball do your shopping early and the more you root and encourage your kids the better they play ball. The proceeds of this game go to the Prairie League to help finance the All Star Game so please bring all your friends and help the kids out.

Our next league game will be in Carbon July 16 Acme vs Carbon at 6:30 p.m. sharp.

Remember a good sport is a sport that smiles after a loss.

SHORTER WEEK

The North American work week, since 1850 has shortened by three hours every 10 years — to 40.2 hours in 1955. On that basis the now-talked-of four-day week could be standard in 20 years. The question: Can productivity be stepped up in that period to make four days' work equal five in output.

This may be "old hat"

This may be "old hat" to some of our readers but then again it may not and in any event a "toy" as dangerous as the one to which this editorial is devoted deserves plenty of publicity.

The April 30th issue of "Saskatchewan News" a non-profit publication similar to that published in Ontario (both government-financed) turns the spotlight on a "DANGEROUS TOY".

"The public is urged", the "News" writes, "to be on the lookout for children's toy cowboy pistols bearing a Japanese trademark. These pistols are highly dangerous and have caused fires. According to Ross Switzer, Provincial Fire Commissioner, the pistol was brought to his attention by the Moose Jaw fire department following a fire in a residence in that city. The fire was caused by a small boy firing the pistol at his toy dog which immediately burst into flame. Upon examination of the gun, it was discovered that the sparking mechanism was too strong and instead of ejecting harmless sparks, the pistol ejected a combination of heavy sparks which merged into a flame three or four inches long."

Better examine those toy pistols closely next time your youngster either wants you to buy one or bring a new one home, hadn't you? And perhaps you, like us, wonder who was responsible for authorizing the importance of such a hazardous "toy".

TAXES UP

Today, in Canada's period of greatest prosperity, Canadians are paying an over-all tax bill larger than that which they paid during the Second World War. Of National Income two percent more goes to the tax coffers than did in 1944. But in actual money terms the tax contribution, due to such tremendous increases in net National Income, amounts to 140 percent.

EXTRA WINNIPEG

During 1956 Canada, by immigration and natural increase, boosted population by 516,000 or, say, by the equivalent of the folk who go to make up Winnipeg. Thus the size of the domestic market was increased to the degree of an extra Winnipeg and by the same token the country's dependence on the international market was lowered by that degree.

Manitoba health plan well underway

The new hospital relief plan set up by the provincial government is proving both practical and efficient.

Minister of Health and Welfare, Hon. R. W. Bend, reports that the entire hospital bills of 168 patients in Manitoba have been assumed by the government. An additional 35 applications have been received.

Under the new hospital plan, patients who have received hospital care for more than 180 days qualify to apply for full reimbursement. First outlined by Mr. Bend in the legislature last winter, the plan was put into effect April 1.

Mr. Bend said he expected the plan will give much needed financial relief to people who are forced to stay in hospital for long periods of time.

A rose for mother!

While many local home gardeners are gazing fondly at their first tulips of the season, Mrs. A. Barnett reports the first full-blown Rose! And a beautiful deep red double one at that.

Mrs. Barnett stored the plant in her basement last fall, gave it an occasional watering and in March brought it to her kitchen where three buds soon appeared. As soon as the first really warm day arrived Mrs. Barnett put the box out into the garden where one of the buds quickly developed. —The Enterpriser, Selkirk, Man., May 8, 1957.

New bottling plant to open

W. J. Switzer and Richard Rempie, both well-known local businessmen, have formed a partnership to put into production a new soft-drink bottling plant here. The company, Polar Pop Ltd., has been incorporated and construction has already started on an $80,000 manufacturing building. The firm hopes to have its products on the market in the very near future.

The building will measure 50 by 80 feet and will be of light-weight aggregate construction. Its location is on Eleventh Avenue West. It will house the most modern equipment, Mr. Rempie said, to bottle Pepsi-Cola and a full line of flavor drinks.

To start with, Mr. Rempie said, the firm will employ a staff of about 12 people, all of whom will be engaged locally. Mr. Rempie will be plant manager.—The Sun, Swift Current, Sask.—May 15/57.

New Saskatchewan Nursing Home occupied

The new 300-bed Regina Nursing Home, one of four provincial nursing homes in Saskatchewan, was designed with the idea of creating a home, not an institutional atmosphere. The first guests, 75 from the former Regina Nursing Home, which is being discontinued, were moved by a fleet of ambulances in late May. Further guests including 64 veterans from the Government House Veterans' Home in Regina, 50 patients undergoing treatment in the Physical Restoration Centre, Department of Public Health, transfers from other provincial nursing homes and a limited number of persons from private nursing homes or on waiting lists will be admitted through June and July.

The new Nursing Home and other provincial homes at Saskatoon, Melfort and Wolesey, under the Housing and Nursing Homes branch, Department of Social Welfare and Rehabilitation, have a total capacity of 658 persons. This represents an overall increase of 113 persons.

The new home, designed by architects Stock, Ramsay and Associates, is located in the beautifully landscaped Legislative grounds in Regina. The two-storey Estevan brick structure spreads to long wings with unobstructed light and view. Male guests are accommodated on the main floor, and females on the second floor. The entire home is bright with the light of color. All equipment, furniture and furnishings were chosen with the comfort and convenience of the elderly in mind. While there are some younger patients, one lad is 22, the vast majority are senior citizens. One lady, Mrs. Hettie Peckingsh, from Midale, is a senior among the seniors. She will be 103 in July. She is fondly known as "Granny Peck" to Superintendent W. A. Steinger and others in the home. Seven of the first group transferred, and the Matron, Mrs. V. I. McMinn, were at the former home since it opened in 1947.

The health requirements of patients in Regina Nursing Home is looked after by a medical doctor who makes daily calls and is available in emergency. There are 20 registered nurses and 56 nursing assistants working from strategically placed nursing stations.

Guests are accommodated in single, double, four-bed, and 16-bed dormitories. The latter, being semi-partitioned to four-bed areas are by no means large institutional-type accommodation. Each section is directly accessible from the corridor without undue disturbance.

The ivory-metal beds, with individual bed lamps, are the height of a home bed when the springs are not raised, but can be raised and adjusted to varying positions. Near each bed a built-in wardrobe and drawers assures each guest their things are together and handy.

All the halls (one corridor is 430 feet long) have handrails that an unsteady patient can grip for support. Doors are 44 inches wide for easy access by a wheel chair or stretcher. Colorful sitting rooms and solariums in each wing are places the patients can go for a change of atmosphere from their own bedside, or have visitors. All exits, except the main one have ramps built to the outside. Two automatic elevators enable walking or wheel chair patients to go anywhere in the building.

Special plumbing fixtures installed are designed for the less ambulant. Some patients, of the former homes who have been bathed in bed for years, look forward to being bathed in a specially-made tub. There is also a shampoo room with a dryer, a barber shop and a canteen. The room where veterans will work at their weaving and other crafts has individual cupboards for each person's material.

The large dining room, like the rest of the home, is furnished for the convenience of the elderly with chairs that have staunch arms for easier rising. Kitchen facilities are modern and ample for preparing patient and staff meals and special diets. A large laundry makes the new Regina Nursing Home practically self-contained. The building is heated from the central plant in the Legislative Grounds, and controlled by thermostats.

Homes are switched, sparrows are happy

Two pairs of sparrows had built a nest one at each end of the cultivator, that probably looked to them as if it were a fixture in the Cliff Hyemer's yard. The two small boys, Kenneth and Eldon, had watched the nest-building, and later the addition of three eggs in each and the hatching out of four small birds. Every day the progress was noted, until Monday, when, alas, not even the cultivator was in sight! Cliff was cultivating in a field, unaware of his passengers who, however, arrived back in the yard with their homes intact. The two nests have been carefully placed on the combine now, where the frantic parents can fill the yawning little beaks in peace.—The Sun, Swift Current, Sask.—May 17, 1957.

BITS AND PIECES

The fact is that we have been and still are developing Canada in bits and pieces. Some regions flourish and others stagnate; some provinces are wealthy, and others must look for handouts. That is inevitable, perhaps, where 16 million people occupy, or attempt to occupy, a sub-continent. But it is also a powerful argument for large-scale immigration. — Campbellton, N.B., Tribune.

CURTAINED EXPANSION

Tightening credit regulations and our zooming costs have curtailed housing expansion at a point where more and more new homes are needed to take care of a growing home and immigrant population. In fact, the saying "a man's home is his castle," has come true with today's costs. — Gananoque, Ont., Reporter.

COMMON PROBLEM

If other municipal services are not to suffer, some solution will have to be found in the near future . . . for the heavy burden of taxation for educational purposes to be eased as far as the municipal property owner is concerned. — Trenton, Ont., Courier-Advocate.

POSTAL RATES

The surplus of $30 million indicates that the government is making a high profit on its Post Office operations. In view of this large surplus, we feel that the government should reduce postage rates, even if part of their postal expenses would be subsidized. — Altona, Man., Echo.

ALL SMILES

It would seem that four out of five people who face cameras for the press consider it necessary to smile . . . Why they should do this is anybody's guess. There is nothing quite as pleasing as the smile that is in harmony with the facial expression as a whole; yet there is nothing quite as attractive to study as the serious face which reveals the true character. — Estevan, Sask., Mercury.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

The town of Humboldt (has) reached the ripe old age of 50 years . . . In wishing a happy birthday to Humboldt, we again pay tribute to those, both past and present, who have and who are devoting their efforts and interest to make our town an even better place in which to live. — Humboldt, Sask., Journal.

D.N.R. Game Branch becomes Wildlife Branch

The Saskatchewan Department of Natural Resources, Game Branch, has now been reorganized and will now be known as the Wildlife Branch, Hon. A. G. Kuziak, Minister of Natural Resources, announced recently.

E. L. PAYNTER

T. A. HARPER

W. ARTHUR BENSON

HAROLD READ

J. C. SHAVER

Reason for the reorganization is the ever-increasing interest in hunting big game and game birds in Saskatchewan. The number of hunters has trebled during the past 10 years and a recent survey showed that more than $7,500,000 was spent by hunters in Saskatchewan last fall.

"To better administer the research and management programs to cater to this growing interest it has been found necessary to reorganize the branch," Mr. Kuziak said.

Head of the branch will be E. L. Paynter, Game Commissioner of the Game Branch for the past 11 years, who will now carry the title of Director of Wildlife. T. A. Harper, who has served with the Research Division of the branch since 1952, has been appointed to the newly established position of Assistant Director of Wildlife.

In order to improve organization, there are now four Divisions responsible to the director through the assistant director: Research; Fur Administration; Game Administration and Statistics.

W. Arthur Benson, is chief of the Research Division; Harold Read of Prince Albert, formerly a Field Supervisor in the frontier and northern areas, has been appointed Fur Administrator and will be in charge of the fur management program throughout the province. J. C. Shaver, former Supervisor of Game, has been appointed Game Administrator with similar responsibilities for game throughout the province, and a similar responsibility.

Division of Statistics has been established under the supervision of W. C. Martin, who has been with the department for more than 25 years.

"We hope and believe that the new Wildlife Branch will provide better hunting for all Saskatchewan hunters," Mr. Kuziak said.

T. L. Hill named to information post

Appointment of T. L. (Tom) Hill of Vancouver as deputy minister of the Saskatchewan Department of Travel and Information was announced by the department's minister, Hon. Russ Brown.

Mr. Hill, who will take over his new duties on June 3, has for the past three years been an advertising account executive in the Vancouver offices of the James Lovick advertising agency.

The appointment makes him the first person to hold the office of deputy minister in the new department, which was established by an Act of the Saskatchewan legislature during the 1957 session. The department is responsible for promoting the development of the tourist industry and the use of provincial parks and recreation areas of the province, and for information and promotion on the province's social, cultural and economic development.

Before going to Vancouver, Mr. Hill was a partner in the Regina advertising firm of Bothwell-Hill and Company, a Lovick associate, from 1952 to 1954. Prior to that time, he was employed by Radio Station CKRM, Regina, from 1945 to 1952, first as an announcer and later as chief announcer.

Born in Swift Current in 1925, Mr. Hill received his elementary education at Pennant, Sask., and later attended Nutana Collegiate in Saskatoon. During the Second World War, he served for a time in the Canadian Army, and later in the R.C.A.F., graduating as a navigator in 1945.

THEIR OWN FAMILY REUNION—When brothers marry sisters, all from the same town, they could hold their own family reunion, as the Burningshams from Winnipeg shown here on the new Empress of England plan to do when they reach their home town of Newbury, England, which all four of them have not seen together since World War I. The two men were among the best known dining car stewards on the Canadian Pacific Railway in the West. Charlie (right) having retired from The Canadian a year ago, and Cecil, still holding his seniority although he is on leave now as general chairman for the dining car employees in the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The wives were the Stevens sisters. Charlie was in the Norfolk Regiment and Cecil in the 12th Lancers. Daughters of an inspector with the Great Western Railway in England, the Stevens sisters came to Winnipeg after World War I.

No one profiteers — All profit

(The Clarion, Kindersley, Sask.)

It has been suggested to us that some ill will has been engendered against the clinics through circulation of the rumour that the local nurses who assist with the work are paid for doing so. T'aint so. It's a shameful libel. The girls give up their own leisure for this work because they understand better than the rest of us, the urgency of the need for this service and because they know that their skills are needed.

To the best of our knowledge, no one makes anything out of these clinics. The people who have to devote all their time to it are paid a reasonable salary. The local people — organizers, canvassers, members of the Registered Nurses Association, the girls who type the records and the people who open the pop bottles and hand them to you, all work (and work hard, too) for free. When your pint of blood has been harvested, the Red Cross spends about five bucks of the money you donated last month to process it, package the product and ship them to the hospitals where they happen to be needed.

When you give blood no one makes a rake-off but the whole country benefits. Some day the blood donor service may be the means of saving YOUR life.

Once again the editor has bitten off more than he can conveniently chew. He had promised to write editorials plugging a couple of important coming events on the local scene but by the time he got around to trying to deliver the goods there was only space left for one, he having got his dander up, beforehand, anent a couple of other matters. However, it's an ill wind that blows nobody good and the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic probably deserves the prominence thus accorded it anyway.

As mentioned in a news story last week, The Red Cross thinks we're doing a pretty fair job in the blood donation line down here. As most Clarion readers are aware, we don't. We can't understand why the town of Kindersley and its immediate environs can't oversupply the modest quota allotted to us. Considering that people come to the local clinic from as far away as Hoosier, we think that the attendance at our clinics is disgraceful. The Red Cross is pleased that we are a little more generous than the average Saskatchewan community. The Clarion is disappointed that we are not nearly as generous as we might be.

Dial telephones necessary

(The Province, Innisfail, Alberta)

In view of the fact that Alberta within the next few years will be served entirely by dial telephones it would seem good business if each of the groups in the area petitioned the government to hasten the service into Innisfail and district.

Petitions, asking that the project be undertaken for this area now, could be directed from the Town Council, the Hospital Board, School Board and all of the service clubs. A large scale appeal might be just the incentive necessary to get dial telephone service here a year or two ahead of the present schedule.

In the petitions each of the groups could state a strong case for dial phone service into Innisfail and District. Last year, it could be pointed out, the town put over a million dollars into expansion, renovations and buildings. The extension of natural gas and other projects each point to an increase in population and meriting the most modern of services.

Located midway between Calgary and Edmonton and with Red Deer for a next-door-neighbor, the Innisfail Telephone Exchange is no doubt one of the busiest of the kind in Alberta. More important is the fact that demands for service within the next year will reach an all time high.

The worst is yet to come

(The Canadian, Camrose, Alberta)

The words in the above heading are ones used in an early day comic strip that had a bit of comedy in it but our reference here concerns the Suez Canal and the Middle East problems. The world will never know what pressure Eisenhower put on the Israelis to get them to submit to Egypt's humiliating demands. Now the world is wondering just what Eisenhower will do if Nasser gets the idea that he is strong enough, with Soviet Russia's help, to dictate a harsh policy in connection with the operation of the Suez Canal. It would seem that any move the Western powers might make will be objectionable to the Arabs. It has been planned that way. There would be real irony in the situation if the United States found herself in the position where she had to shoot her own way through the Suez Canal. Dulles lamented this week over Nasser "dragging his feet" in the matter of getting the canal cleared for traffic. In the meantime President Eisenhower is seeking a health retreat where the weather is warm and dry.

A rare international experience

(The Mercury, Estevan, Sask.)

While it was not even an event to rock the nation, a part of the official opening ceremonies of Minto school at North Portal was an event that can be rather confidently said never to happen before and in all likelihood might scarcely happen again. It was one of those unique and unparalleled affairs that rarely happen and as such calls for recognition and comment of more than ordinary length.

To those unaware of the circumstances it would be hard to believe that the official opening exercises of a Canadian school building should begin in the United States and then finally be completed north of the border.

Yet that took place last week within the sister towns of North Portal, Saskatchewan and Portal, North Dakota.

The latter has no interest in the school affairs of the former, but Portal has auditorium accommodation which is lacking in North Portal and made available its Memorial hall to the Canadians for the major part of the opening program.

So there transpired the rare experience of Canadians going over into the United States to begin their celebration of a milestone in the history of their own land. Not so many years ago a fiery patriotic sentiment would have stopped any such thought instantly.

It reveals how friendship and understanding can develop between people of different nations, and particularly those with similar racial backgrounds, when they are placed in close contact such as the good folk of both Portal and North Portal.

The international boundary line may cut right through the middle of their combined areas but it is not a segregating barrier. They go back and forth, from one side to the other intermingling in activities and only recognizing the invisible survey by paying due respect to the officialdom that is centered there.

Nations can have their official disagreements but the real test of international relationships—barring serious events which stir patriotic feelings in every nook and corner of a country—is simply the matter of how well the average folk get along with one another from day to day, year in and year out. That is the core of friendship between nations.

There is something constructive about this event that took place the other day. It might even be termed an adventure in international co-operation. It was at least an example of assistance kindly offered and warmly accepted and appreciated.

It was an event that should be recorded in proper perspective not only in the history of North Portal and Portal but in the larger scrolls of national histories among the international incidents of a happy nature which just seem to flow naturally into position without any urgings or make-believe.

Those who attended the gathering probably never realized just how unique was the event in which they were participating. The school pupils particularly might well store recollections of it in their memories.

National Water Safety Week June 16 to 22

National Water Safety Week is a period planned by the Canadian Red Cross Society to bring to our attention the value of swimming and other summer sports and a word of warning of the many dangers that lurk in, near or on the water.

It is a week devoted to an ideal and a hope that sound advice and guidance will control and curtail Canada's dreadful drowning toll.

During our summer months this newspaper and those throughout Canada will carry headlines about the loss of life by drowning. The record is always a sorrowful one. The headlines represent a needless loss of life. They are the headlines we dislike printing because they are the background for obituaries of friends, neighbors and their families.

The tragedy of these accidents is never forgotten easily. Summer months are months of pleasure and a drowning casts a shadow that lingers for years.

In most cases, drownings are not mere accidents. They are the results of venturesome escapades coupled with an ignorance of watersafety. Canada is blessed with thousands of lakes, rivers and streams. They are a setting of nature for enjoyment by Canadians of all ages, a mecca for pleasure during a delightful season.

This summer, we must be concerned about the rules of water safety. Basically, they are simple and practical. A knowledge of these rules and an understanding of their application will mean a happier and healthier summer for you and your family.

The outdoors is yours to enjoy. Enjoy living and swim safely.

What is "tennis elbow"?

Tennis elbow is a common injury that nearly every tennis player has trouble with at some time or other. It is usually caused when the player over-extends the arm in making a stroke, or snaps the arm vigorously at the elbow in making a service or overhead shot.

The injury is similar to that suffered by baseball players when they throw too hard, too soon, and can generally be avoided by warming up carefully before making any hard shots, especially services. What happens is that the bursa sacs around the elbow, containing the fluid that lubricates the joint, are injured or irritated.

The best treatment is the application of heat at frequent intervals and as soon as possible after the injury is noticed. Neglecting such an ailment can make it chronic. A good idea is to use a heat pack of analgesic balm covered by cotton batten. This is applied overnight until there's no sign of soreness left.

Here's a hitting hint

While all baseball experts agree that you should never try to guess what the pitcher is going to throw, most of them feel that the batter should expect every pitch to be the fastest ball he has ever had thrown to him. By doing this, you will always be ready for the fast ball and will have plenty of time to react if it is a slower one. In other words, figuring that each pitch is going to be a fast ball will keep you alert and always on your toes. Need extra energy?

Mal Whitfield was once asked what he considered to be the best quick energy food for athletes. Here's his answer:

"Though some advocate glucose, I'm in favor of honey. In my experience it is the ideal energy food for athletes. I use it before and after competition and workouts, and find it to be the most effective."

As a special energy drink, Sports College recommends a mixture of honey, tea and orange juice—six tea bags to the pint of water, six teaspoons of honey and orange juice to taste. This is served cool but never cold, about four to six ounces 20 minutes before activity and between periods of play. It's a quick, safe and effective stimulant for use in sports.

RAINS DOUSE RAGING FIRES

A timely overnight rain splashed on the northern Alberta bush overnight Monday, bringing half a dozen fires raging in the Grande Prairie forestry division under control.

"There's just mopping up to be done now," said Forestry Superintendent Ray Smuland who directed two hundred men in the fight to snuff out a rash of early spring fires in the district.

First firefighters—many of them pressed into service under the Forestry Department's sweeping recruiting powers—were expected to be relaxed from duty Wednesday providing the cool weather continues. —The Herald Tribune, Grande Prairie, Alta., May 7, 1957.

RECIPE HINTS

Fresh or canned fruits can be wonderful when placed in a shallow crystal dish, circled with a flavored cream sauce and garnished with toasted almonds. This recipe, a perfect finishing touch to any meal, can be served any time during the year.

PLACE fruit in centre of a crystal dish and make a border around them with sauce. Decorate with almonds. (Serves 6.)

C. F. GREENE

Good morning, Neighbors:

First a salute to what the Tisdale Recorder, Saskatchewan terms "An Enterprising Ladies Club". Distance, it states, is no obstacle to the Weekes Ladies Club, who travelled 16 miles to the neighboring village of Bertwell, where an all-day auction sale was held recently. Learning that no organization had arranged to supply the hungry crowd with lunch during sale, members of the local club packed up 50 loaves of bread and other food requirements into several cars, journeyed to Bertwell and set up shop at 9 a.m. They were all back at 8 p.m. with $86 to the good.

And "all to the good" were these spuds—the editor of the Oak Lake News, Manitoba, reporting that George H. Smith dug up a number of potatoes recently that had been in the ground since last fall. They had not been frozen but were firm, and nice to eat. "Thanks George," says the editor.

Speaking of potatoes, the Watrous Manitou, Saskatchewan, notes that William Scott of the Simpson district has had potatoes showing above ground in his garden for over three weeks. Mr. Scott's nightly job, before going to bed, has been to hustle out and cover them up, to save them in case of frost. Thinks the Manitou editor, "It's going some—when a Scotsman can beat an Irishman in growing spuds."

It's hard to beat a man who publicly owns-up to a mistake. A notice in the Norquay North Star, Saskatchewan, reads: "My heartfelt gratitude to the Hyas telephone operator, the town fire brigade and rural residents for their alertness and their efforts to help out, when, due to my error, the stubble fire which I started, almost destroyed my neighbor's property recently—signed, Dan Crotenko."

Going on to a neighbor's property for a very good reason were the good people mentioned in the Provost News, Alberta—whose Green Glade district reporter states: An old fashioned bee was held at the Theodore Nent farm when 25 men and seven women turned out to put the crop in and go over some of Mr. Nent's summerfallow land, brand calves, and so any available jobs to help out while Mr. Nent is ill in Edmonton.

This good will story reminds us of this same phrase in the Macgregor Herald, Manitoba. Back a number of years ago, it says, some of the town promoters held a "Good Will Day". One of the horses in the race belonged to Jim Turner, and it ended up amongst the minister's crab apple trees. After that it was known as Crab Apple Jim. Turner tells us that the old horse passed on to his final reward recently.

And—comments the Fort Macleod Gazette, Alberta, if friends are wondering why Miss Edith Hilliard is spending more time standing up than sitting down this week, the explanation is simple. She went horseback riding in the Pearce district last weekend with Sam Zoeteman. It was her first time in the saddle for over three years.

The word "three" introduces this news item noticed in the Kindersley Clarion, Saskatchewan. Word was recently received of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Julius Martin of Flin Flon and formerly of Kindersley. While Mrs. Martin was still in the hospital her eldest daughter, Darlene, a bride of last June, was ushered into the same ward with her first-born, also a son. Later, as the two were comparing the wee uncle and his wee nephew, they noticed a nurse ushering a young husband and his wife down the hall. The husband was Mrs. Martin's son, Barry, and she was soon possessed of another grandson. All three mothers and three sons were reported doing well. Incidentally, Mrs. Martin now has 12 sons and four daughters.

Going from one hospital to another, we read in the Coronation Review, Alberta, that early Tuesday morning the hospital caretaker was awakened by an urgent S.O.S.—the trouble being that a friendly little weasel had found its way in for treatment, but had evidently come in the wrong door through the kitchen. Result being that when the caretaker arrived things looked like an up-to-date floor show. The cook was standing on the table, the laundry lady hiding in the washing machine, the cleaning lady with a mop and a broom at the end of the hall and numerous other female heads peeking here and there. After breaking up various dishes and bottles the poor wee thing got in the dryer and there met his unfortunate death. The report adds; Ruby and Lavenda, being far mgirls, were the heroes helping the caretaker run it down.

Here are some children who should have received a reward for saving a duck from embarrassment. According to the Kinistino Post, Saskatchewan, the other day the Wilfred and Gordon Sorenson children were playing ball over the barn when they lost the ball. They hunted all over but failed to find it. Then they noticed one of their tame ducks sitting about where the ball might have been. After considerable fuss they manage to get Mrs. Duck to move—and sure enough there was the ball! She had mistaken it for an egg and was going to hatch a young 'un. The children figured they had actually done the duck a good turn by chasing it away as it might have still been sitting there until the snow came in the fall, trying to hatch that rubber ball!

From ducks to hens, the Macgregor Herald, Manitoba, reports that Lindsay Shaw has a black hen that likes to get her eggs near the frying pan. She lays one every day on top of an old stove on the verandah.

Looking from the verandah to the garden, the Indian Head News, Saskatchewan, notes that one of the oldest and most capable gardeners in those parts, Levi Peagam of Summerberry, is readying his attractive grounds for another season. Ninety years of age, Mr. Peagam has for many years tilled a garden that has been the source of admiration and envy of the many visitors it has attracted.

And into the gay ninety-and-over class, have travelled these fine oldtimers, whose birthday anniversaries are noted in their local weekly papers. Mrs. T. L. Fargey of La Riviere, Manitoba, 90—W. E. Woodward of Consort, Alberta, 90—Mrs. George Muir of Carman, Manitoba, 93—Willis W. Yeager of Wainwright, Alberta, 94—and Mrs. Sarah Richardson of Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, 95. Mrs. Richardson still remembers travelling by boat up the Red River from Emerson, and by covered wagon from Winnipeg to Treherne, Manitoba.

Another real old-timer lady receives a tribute in the Peace River Record, Alberta. She is Mrs. C. A. Broughton, still bright and active at the age of 98 who was awarded a life membership in the W.A. to the Anglican Church in Canada in an impressive ceremony at Bishop's Lodge the other evening. Mrs. Broughton feels any day has been wasted in which no special project has been completed and her busy fingers make a great volume of useful articles for her descendants—"138 of them at last count but there are a few more now," she says.

Another lady is in the news for a different reason. According to the Morden Times, Manitoba, the golfer's dream, a hole-in-one, became a reality last weekend for Mrs. R. A. Milne. Teeing off on the third hole, her perfect shot travelled 120 yards to drop in the cup. Three witnesses were present to verify her report—husband Bob, A. MacAulay and H. F. Harp.

Turning to more serious news, the Oak River district correspondent to the Hamiota Echo, Manitoba, states: Citizens are reminded of the vote on the hall coming up on June 4th. Think now, not after. Talk now, or "hold your peace forever!" Which advice could apply to the Federal Election on June 10th.

Speaking the word "yes" many, many years ago, were these couples, recently celebrating noteworthy wedding anniversaries. Captain and Mrs. Perry Fall of Oak Lake, Manitoba, their 68th—and Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert of Clearwater, Manitoba, their 69th wedding anniversary.

Just starting out on their married life is this couple mentioned in the Vermilion Standard, Alberta. Marriage one day last month at Bolsover, England, climaxed a Canadian-English pen pal friendship that began nearly 15 years ago. James Blake, aged 29 years, of Vermilion, Alberta, married Marjory Chambers, 27, of Carr Vale, England. James went overseas to see his pen pal last December. The correspondence started when the two were children, through the Winnipeg Free Press pen pal page. The happy couple are making their home in Vermilion.

The final word this morning comes from the Grenfell Sun, Saskatchewan, with this quickie. A 10-year-old boy rushed into the drug store. "Father's being chased by a bull," he cried. "What can I do about it?" asked the shopkeeper. "Put a new roll of film in my camera," said the boy.

Good morning neighbors and keep smiling.

With the present interest in home building, prospects for another year of better than a million dollars are good, according to Building Inspector, Thomas Davidson.—The News-Optimist, North Battleford, Sask.—May 8, 1957.

Carbon

as regards the new Government was one more ray of hope for the farmers in their serious state of affairs—low prices for their produce and no markets for their wheat.

The tax notices are just out and they are not very pleased with them. We must congratulate the municipality on holding the municipal tax in check but the others have gone hog wild. Some quarters are between $200 and $275 which makes a tax of around $3 for every acre you have in crop and a quota of six bushels per acre. It just doesn't make sense any more. The farmers do not like the machine dealers cutting wheat prices on one another just in order to get the business. Every time they cut the price that is just another slap at the farmer and adds insult to injury.

Wheat at 65 or 70 cents per bushel and our dollar only around 50c is not much better than the early thirties when it comes to purchasing power.

The milk producers got a raise of 5c per hundred lbs. for their milk and milk went up one cent a quart. Well, the producer can't say he did not get a raise. Just about enough to pay for the soap to wash his hands.

If our new Government should fail in bringing farm prices up to parity with the things we have to buy, there is only one thing left for the farmers to do—that is to go on a buyers' strike and only buy the things he really needs to get along.
